I took Prof. Stoytchev's <sup>CP# E 585X</sup> Developmental Robotics class in Spring 2011. I was a 17-year old freshman at the time, and I was quite immature and inexperienced. I always felt sort of inferior because everyone else was grad students or otherwise seemed better than me. Nevertheless, I found the class fascinating, and to this day it has profoundly impacted my life. I would like to someday do work in this field, and I didn't discover this until recently.

This class (HCI 575) has been very similar, and I feel as if I have learned a great deal about this subject. I still have a long way to go, but I think I've made a lot of progress toward advancing myself and my skills. Prof. Stoytchev is an astounding professor, probably the professor I know best at Iowa State. I'm fortunate to have had the opportunity to take his classes, and I wish the best to his future students, the dreamers and revolutionaries of tomorrow. u

Additional Comments:

Alexis is a great professor, the lectures for this course were well prepared and I felt like every single lecture was important. I would like to see more undergraduate research projects related to this subject. Maybe creating an introductory undergraduate course would be a good thing. Human computer interaction is becoming increasingly important.
